About Me

I'm Taofik Hidayat from Bogor West Java, Indonesia. I'm a graduate of Vocational High School, majoring in Office Administration. Currently, I'm pursuing a bachelor's degree at Pamulang University, majoring in computer engineering.

Experiences

I have significant experience in Android application development, user interface (UI) design, and custom ROM development, gained through various collaborative projects. Additionally, I specialize in creating Android themes, particularly for Sony Xperia devices.

Moreover, I have successfully completed several projects, including the development of a personal portfolio website and a web-based student attendance simulation system. These projects have enhanced my skills in web development, refined my UI design expertise, and deepened my understanding of web-based system development.

Additionally, I have held various roles, including cashier, waiter, ATM cleaning staff, and support staff. These experiences have not only broadened my perspective across different fields but also enhanced my adaptability and interpersonal skills.
